"As assemblages of props, costumes, and sets, Gober's installations of domestic dreamscapes pose as sites for the unfolding of narrative sequences; each element serves as a silent accoutrement to the human drama awaiting to be enacted therein. In this potent mise-en-scène we are implicated as participants. Gober's fabricated, home-like spaces are uncanny in the truest sense of the word."

Nancy Spector, Parkett no. 27, 1991.
