- Private collection Bavaria

Exhibitions:

- documenta 7, 1982

Literature:

- Exhib. cat. Abraham David Christian - der heilige Mensch - alle Erde - Danzas contra la morte - TRANSIT, Württembergischer Kunstverein, Stuttgart/Westfälischer Kunstverein, Münster/Frankfurter Kunstverein, Frankfurt, Stuttgart 1982, p. 16, ill.

Abraham David Christian was invited to documenta 5 in 1972 with his work, when he was only 19 years old. Joseph Beuys and Abraham David Christian staged the legendary "Boxkampf für direkte Demokratie durch Volksabstimmung" on 8 October 1972 at the close of the documenta 5 exhibition.

The artist showed the work presented here in his room at documenta 7 in 1982. The work is part of the sculpture group "Der heilige Mensch".

- From the early group of works "Heiliger Mensch"
- Life-size plaster sculpture that dissolves the human form into block-like shapes
- With his universal language of form, the artist does not create an image, but rather conveys an idea that one is meant to contemplate
- The artist was the youngest participant at documenta V (1972) and documenta VII (1982) and was appointed to the Düsseldorf Art Academy by the then Rector Norbert Kricke at the age of 24.
