EXCEPTIONAL LINEN FOLDING SCREEN WITH APHORISMS AND GALANT SCENES.

South Germany.

Date: End 18th c.

Technique: Linen fabric painted in polychrome colours. Wooden mount, iron nails.

Description: The three-part paravent feature per segment each two large overlapping and strongly dynamic rocaille cartouches with galant couples in park-like landscapes on the front. Above each an aphorism referring to the scene. In the centre each smaller rocaille cartouches with shell mouldings and the titles in French and German that define the pictorial programme of the singular panels: "Le Jour - Der Tag / La Nuit - Die Nacht", "Le Feu - Das Feuer / L'Eau - Das Wasser", "L'Air - Die Luft / La Terre - Die Erde". In between rich foilage and fruits in grisaille. Verso per segment two cartouches laying above each other with wild birds in grisaille with a few red accents.

Measurement: In total three hinged panels each: 189x62cm.

Estimate: 2.000 € - 4.000 €
